QUARANTINE TO BE ENFORCED EFFICIENTLY

Quarantine regulations put into effect by the provincial department of health as a result of the epidemic of infantile paralysis were considerably tightened Tuesday as the result of a new order issued by the provincial minister of health which makes it compulsory for travellers leaving Edmonton to points within the province to first obtain, at their own expense, the consent of the local health officer in the district to which they intend going.

The new order, it was pointed out by Dr. T. H. Whitham, who recently completed his Edmontonian tour of duty, is not intended to cause any difficulty and is a measure to be taken in the event of an epidemic of the disease, which has been going on in remote and isolated districts.

keep warm, because the only fire in the house was in the kitchen. Boiler exploded.
This is exactly what is happening these chilly mornings and evenings at the Children's Home, 221 street, where, recently, an accident to the furnace boiler made extensive repairs necessary, and since when it has been impossible to light a fire. The furnace boiler exploded, causing extensive damage to the interior of the home, otherwise than the lack of fire. The only means of heat during these days when repairs are being made is the kitchen stove.

With the influenza epidemic still existing, and the care and comfort of the children a matter of increased anxiety, officers at the home and members of the executive committee are doing their utmost to keep the children being endangered daily by lack of proper heating facilities. The society is entirely without funds to meet this emergency, and therefore is unable to do anything for the children. The furnace requires the utmost care and attention, and the repairs are being made as quickly as possible.

Every man and woman in Edmonton sent a new letter today to the furnace repairer, the executive committee, and the children's home, asking for help. The furnace is the life of the home, and the children are suffering because of it. The society is entirely without funds to meet this emergency, and therefore is unable to do anything for the children.

Swift Sea Drama Claims Lives of Three Off France

Bathors Rescue Woman Left Helpless on Small Yacht; She Saves Child, Husband and Friend Drown

BOULOGNE-SUR-MER, France, Sept. 20.—Bathers Monday afternoon at the little beach of Hapland, near here, witnessed a scene of sea drama. A small yacht which was obviously out of control came clapping in on the waves. As the sailors gazed a woman with a life belt leaped out of the water. She swam to the yacht and brought her ashore exhausted. When she recovered she said: "My husband, my child, my little daughter and myself and one man came from Portsmouth on our yacht Sea Wolf. We were surprised by a storm. I saw my own daughter overboard. The man jumped after her and saved her, but could not get back in the yacht. Whereupon my husband found the man's strength almost spent, died overboard."

"But it was in vain. All three went under, leaving the ship in the boat, which I did not know how to manhandle. I resented it, but I did not try to do so. I was at the end of my strength when I saw my child. I was at the end of my strength when I saw my child."

The body of the man washed up on the beach this evening. But the bodies of father and daughter have not been recovered.
